

The Sugar Shack

This 18' x 48', 850 square foot structure is situated on the banks of the St. Joseph River, and at the heart of the Morris family philosophy. This building is currently employed as a maple syrup production facility and has been for years. The syrup was and still is given out as gifts to friends and extended family members. All equipment is intact and ready for maple syrup production. It features a wood burning stove, half bath, and built in cabinetry. Much of the charm of the structure has been preserved by the care of the Morris Family's generations.
